CHARLEROI READY TO WELCOME SUNDAY SCHOOL HOSTS TOMORROW

Seventeenth Annual County Convention to Start With Early Morning Session Thursday

IMPORTANT TO COUNTY

Holds Similiar Interest to District That Big Political Gathering in Chicago Does to the Nation

Like Chicago on Monday, Charleroi is today on thetiptoe of expectation over the district convention of the Washington County Sunday School Association which opens for a two days' session here tomorrow. In point of magnitude and local importance the Sunday school convention will mean as much to Charleroi as the Repuvlican convention does to Chicago, and local facilities will be taxed to the utmost to take care of and entertain the hundreds of visitors who are expected to be present.

Delegates will arrive early tomorrow morning. They will be met at street cars and trains by members of the Washington Avenue Boys' Brigade, serving as pages, and will be conducted to the Christian church, where the registration bureau with Coroner James T. Heffran in charge will be stationed. The delegates will there be registered and assigned their places of entertainment.

Promptly at 9:45 o'clock will the first event occur that will formally open the two days' session. At this time will occur the children's parade. The parade will end up at the convention tent and Rev. L. O. Brown, of Franklin will give a chalk talk to the children. Convention business will be taken up following Rev. Brown's talk.

Features of the Thursday afternoon session will be addresses of welcome. Burgess George W. Risbeck is programmed to welcome the visiting Sunday School folks on behalf of the "Magic City," and Rev. J. E. Charles on behalf of the Charleroi churches.

Final preparations to receive the incoming hosts and entertain them during their stay were made by the Charleroi district executive committee today. W. S. James, the president of the district, has had every detail looked after. From this time on until the convention is history the town will be in gala attire.

Friday evening will be the time of the biggest demonstration when delegations of men to the number of 3,000 or more from all parts of the county will come to participate in a men's parade. Seventeen bands are expected on the occasion. Preceding the parade the bands will probably be formed into one immense organization on the corner of McKean avenue for a grand concert under direction of August Bosson, a former band master.

NIGHTSHIRT PARADE SOURCE OF TROUBLE

The alleged outrages which were the outgrowth of Waynesburg's famous "shirttail parade," by student of the college at the county capital of Greene have been settled out of court, and that staid old burg will have to forego the pleasant sensations promised by such a suit. The ten students arrested a few days ago on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by W. R. Cowieson, a Methodist Episcopal minister and a student of Waynesburg College and Frank Weaver, another student also studying for the ministry, compromised the proceedings Monday before the time set for the hearing. The prosecutors agreed to let the matter drop providing the boys pay all costs and damages.

The damage was to the clothing of the two divinity students,one of whom was ducked, and the other of whom was forcibly ejected from his outer garments and made to join in the procession. It is stated that when the one student dried his clothing and donned it, he resembled "Bub" Hicks in George Aide's delightful play, "The College Widow." The other's trousers were, in the language of one irreverent principal in the parade, "ripped from stem to gudgeon" in the process of being peeled off the unwilling participant of the en deshabille parade.

COMMISSIONERS PREPARE BONDS

Final Action Taken in Washington County on Belle Vernon Bridge Affair

The last step in the preparation for the taking over of the Belle Vernon bridge on the part of this county was taken this week when the county commissioners by formal resolution, unanimously passed and issued bonds to the amount of $60,000 to cover the cost of the bridge and its repairs. A judgment has been entered in the courts of Butler county for $83,842 against Washington and Fayette counties which together with costs and interest, makes Washington county's share $41,921.25.

In the statement filed with the clerk of courts it is set forth that there is available at present but $1,921.25 applicable to this debt and as the necessary repairs to the bridge will cost $20,000 for this county's share coupon bonds are issued for $60,000. The bonds bear interest at 4 1-2 per cent and fall due in yearly series of five from June 1, 1913, to June 1, 1924.

In the statement of indebtedness prepared by Chief Clerk Harry Campbell accompanying the resolution filed at the clerk of courts office, it is set forth that the total indebtedness of the county including the issue of bonds for $60,000 is $1,931,000 and the increase in indebtedness does not bring the total up to the two per cent limit. The last assessed valuation of the county was $114,780,617.

DEFINITE MOVE FOR NEW LINE

West Penn Traction Co. Secures Washington Franchise

THREE YEARS IS LIMIT

The first definite step was taken towards the much discussed trolley line which the West Penn Traction company proposes to build from Washington to the river when the Washington council passed an ordinance thus granting the company a 50-year franchise in the borough. The ordinance was passed practically as the company wanted it,it is stated, but at that was loaded with amendments.

The line according to advices of the West Penn Traction company is to be built within three years. The route will be through some of the largest towns along the Monongahela valley affording transportation by a shorter route to Washington. Charleroi will be given direct connections with the county seat, if plans announced a short time ago are carried out. The company is to furnish bond at Washington whenever they accept the ordinance. This will not be long, if their apparent anxiety to get the ordinance through has not been assured.

One of the amendments carried on the ordinance that passel at Washington was that all troubles as to compensation are to be settled by the public utilities board, should such be created in this state.

EDWARD CARSON AND MISS BERTHA COVEN ARE WEDDED TODAY

This morning at the pastorage of Rev. J. M. Feightner of Wall, Edward Carson of Charleroi and Miss Bertha Coven of North Charleroi were married. The wedding was a quiet affair only just the necessary witnesses being present.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson will probably return home this evening. For t he present they will reside in North Charleroi, and later go to housekeeping in a house of their own in Charleroi or North Charleroi. The groom is employed by the firm of Regan and Hormell here as a steam fitter. Both he and his bride are well known young people.

PEOPLE ASKED TO DECORATE HOMES DURING CONVENTION

The decorating committee for the Sunday School convention of which W. E. McFall is the chairman, has made a request that houses and stores be decorated during the time of the convention here this week. Particularly those places along the routes of the two parades is it desired to have decorated.

GRADE ORDINANCE FOR STATE HIGHWAYS PASSED

Council Concluding Work of Preparation on Two Streets

SECTION ON ONE ROUTE

Portions of Lincoln and McKean Avenues in Line for Improvement

Council held a short meeting Tuesday evening at which time two grade ordinances that have to do with the State improvement of two sections of road in the borough were taken up, and passed through first reading. One of the ordinances was to regulate the grade on McKean avenue between the end of the present paved street and Maple Creek, which marks the boundary line of Charleroi and Speers borough. The other ordinance was practically the same, it being for the grading of the portion of Lincoln avenue leading from the end of paving at the south to the west borough line.

The two ordinances were necessary. it is stated before the State Highways Department would begin work of improvement. Both Lincoln avenue and McKean avenue are parts of Route No. 118 in the State plan, and both are listed for improvement.

Advertising matter was issued some days ago by the State Highways Department asking for bids on the two sections of road, totalling 3,760 lineral feet to be improved. These bids are to be in by July 9, when they will be opened at Harrisburg. Probably the contract will be let at the same time and work started.

The borough has had considerable to do in the improvement of the two sections of road and will assist the State further in their improvement. They are both to be brick blocked. Later on it is expected that Lincoln avenue leading directly through the most populous part of the borough and the section of road between Maple Creek and the Belle Vernon bridge will be improved. Onet hing that the route goes over a part of the right-of-way of the Pennsylvania Railroad which company does not appear anxious to give up its property.

Big Choir to Give Concert

Charus of 100 Voices to Render Program Tonight to Open Convention

Tonight at the large Sunday School convention tent that has been erected at the corner of Fallowfield avenue and Seventh street, a concert and recital will be given by a choir of 100 voices under direction of Prof I. T. Daniel. The choir has been practicing on the various numbers since February and an excellent program has been arranged. Hundreds are expected to come from adjoining towns to hear the concert, which will start promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

VICTORY FOR TAFT DECLARED

First Day's Session in Chicago Ends With Root Chairman

BITTER FIGHT WAGED

Taft people drew "first blood" in the Chicago convention yesterday by the election of Senator Root of New York as temporary chairman, which met at 12 o'clock for the purpose of nominating a Republican candidate for president, and where a Titanic battle is in progress between the two leading candidates,President Taft and Col. Roosevelt. Much local interest was manifested and shortly after noon the Western Union telegraph office and telephone offices were besieged with calls for news from the convention. Nothing was received, however until after 8 o'clock, when the nomination of Senator Elihu Root of New York for temporary chairman was announced.

This was the first test of strength beween the two candidates, and as Senator Root was the Taft candidate, the president's followers are confident that he will receive the nomination. Senator Root was elected over Governor McGovern of Wisconsin, the Roosevelt candidate for temporary chairman, by a vote of 558 to 502.

The total vote cast in the convention for temporary chairman was 1,073 out of a total of 1,078 divided as follows; Root, 558; McGovern, 502; Lauder, 9; Hauser, 3; Gronna, 1; not voting 5.

This gave Root the choice of the national committee, a majority of 38 over all. The 520 votes cast against Root included the 36 pledged to LaFollette and 10 for Cummins which would indicate that the Roosevelt strength expressed by the ballot represented 474 votes.

The convention was called to order by Chairman Rosewater at Chicago

This is a most important event in church circles, and from the fact that similar annual conventions have drawn large crowds elsewhere a record breaking attendance is looked for in Charleroi, on account of the [illegible] the town enjoys, the [illegible] facilities for getting in and out and the hospitable reception that Charleroi has always accorded visitors who come here to attend meetings and conventions.

On this occasion the people of Charleroi should make special effort to extend the glad hand of hospitality to its visitors. The work of the Sunday school is in the [illegible] [illegible]

PARTY PRINCIPLES [illegible]

Whatever may be the result of the Republican [illegible] at Chicago, the great principles of the Republican party remain the same. This party which was founded as a protest against human slavery and stands for liberty and equality, is today as adaptable to the needs of the hour as it was in the days of the great and immortal Lincoln. That the party name has been diverted in the promotion of special privileges none will deny, and that popular rule under Republican administration has been hampered and abridged is also incontrovertible. The people, however, have voiced their protest, and as the great strength and power of the Republican party has always been its flexibility and response to popular sentiment, it will again be responsive to the will of the people. All that the people ask can be granted and put in execution through the medium of the Republican party better than by a new and untried party.

In the face of the tremendous agitation now in progress incident to a struggle for the presidential nomination, it is incumbent upon each and every Republican to remain firm in his party allegiance. The present campaign for the nomination has more than ever before demonstrated the sovereign power of the individual voter, who in the aggregate is supreme, and who can effect the desired changes and reforms within his own party. It has been the indifference of the voter which has resulted in the perversion of the principles of Republicanism, but with a more jealous regard for the high standing and integrity of party principles from this time on there can be a return to the first principles of human rights without the choas and dangers of a complete reversion of political alignment. The success of a new party must depend entirely upon the integrity and unselfishness of the voters who compose it, and these attributes can be exercised and carried out within the Republican party as well as out of it.

Therefore no Republican voter should talk of bolting in case the candidate he prefers is not nominated. Instead, let each Republican strive to carry out the ideal of his party's principles, and all will be well.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"The political situation at the present time reminds me of the campaign of 1860," said an aged citizen who is a civil war veteran. "Then as now the majority party was hopelessly divided and it was this division which permitted the newly organized Republican party to win. As a matter of fact the great issue of that day was slavery and on this the Democratic party was hopelessly divided. The southern wing of the Democratic party was for slavery and its extension, while a large element of the northern Democrats were free soilers and against the extension of slavery. In the campaign of 1860 the Democrats had three presidential candidates in the field which enabled the Republicans, who were out and out anti-slavery, to win. I was one of the original Republicans, and those of us who followed that political faith at thattime didn't have as much political toleration as would a Socialist today in Sewickley.

"Today the Republican party is hopelessly divided upon the question of special privilege and popular rule. There are the standpatters and the progressives within the party and any prospect of harmonizing this difference is apparently irreconciable. Within the Democratic party is much the same condition, with the difference, perhaps, that the most of the active leaders of the Democratic party in the north at least, are actuated by trading motives for what crumbs of patronage come their way. If the Democrats would repudiate their old leaders and return to the principles of popular rule as promulgated by Thomas Jefferson, they would become the popular party of the day.

"This, however, I do not expect, and I look for a new political alignment whereby the adherents of popular rule from all parties will line up together and fight for direct government by the people with popular rights for all and special privileges to none. As Bobby Burns says:

"'It's coming yet for a' that,
That man to man the warld o'er
Will brithers be, for a' that.'"

"What's that tent for?" asked a traveling man last evening of a citizen he met while strolling down Fallowfield avenue.

"Oh, that's for the convention," replied the citizen enthusiastically.

"What, are you people so patriotic here that you get a tent ready to celebrate the nomination to be made at the Chicago convention?"

"Not on your life," replied the citizen. "That tent's for the Sunday school convention here this week. That's the only convention we're thinking of in Charleroi and we're so interested in that we've no time to think of that little affair in Chicago."

Interment was in Calvary cemetery. Mrs. Castellanna is survived by her husband. The funeral was a large one. The procession to the cemetery was led by the Charleroi Italian band.

HEBREW WOMEN HOLDING PICNIC

The Hebrew Ladies' Aid society of Monessen and their friends are enjoying a day's outing at Eldora Park today. Many invited guests are present from Pittsburg and points up and down the river and all are devoting the day to pleasure. A picnic dinner, dancing and other diversions are forms of entertainment.

King George Owns Sandringham.

The statement is again being published that Sandringham is the absolute property of Queen Alexandra. As a matter of fact in the will of the late King Edward the whole estate was left solely to King George, his late majesty merely stipulating that the queen mother should have the entire use of it during her lifetime and adding a wish that in the future the place might become the dower house of the queen consort. King George is, however, in no way bound by this, and is at liberty when the proper time arrives to dispose of it in any manner that seems best to him. In the meantime he has entire charge of the estate, pays all the outgoings and receives the income.

REV. SHEY TO HELP IN FUNERAL SERVICES

Rev. Lucius W. Shey, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church, went to Uniontown today to officiate at the funeral of Fred Thomas, a prominent young man of that town who died in the hospital, aged 36 years. Mr. Shey is officiating in the place of Rev. Beckman of St. Peter's Episcopal church of Uniontown, who is absent from the town.

Three Buried by Snowslide.

In the course of a violent storm at Grenoble, near Paris, recently, an isolated mountain chalet, situated at a height of over 5,000 feet above the sea, was buried in an avalanche of snow and completely disappeared. Its three occupants have undoubtedly perished.

"Father of Antiseptic Surgery."

Sir Joseph Lister's remarkable discoveries in surgery won world-wide fame for him. In the profession he was acknowledged to be the "father of modern antiseptic surgery." He had long been recognized as one of the leaders of the medical profession.

UP IN ARMS AGAINST CRITICS

London Theater Managers Resent "Roasts" and Newspaper Makes a Plain Talk.

One can easily sympathize with an actor manager, and not less, as in a recent instance, with an actress-manageress, who finds that personal estimates of the merits of a play are not indorsed either by the critics or by that far more important section of the community, the playgoing public. But the growing practice on the part of those who control our theaters of showing something like petulance, or worse, when they find they have made a mistake is full of awkward possibilities. Gerald du Maurier's outburst is the latest instance in point. Because those whom he invited to express opinions on his new venture, "The Dust of Egypt," told the truth about it and failed to indulge in paeans of praise he writes a portentous letter to ask "What is a critic?" The best answer we have seen comes from A. C. Benson: "I suppose that an expert critic is a man with a natural faculty of discrimination which has been trained by experience." One is disposed to believe, after witnessing the sorry stuff so often put upon the stage, that a little more exercise of a faculty for discrimination trained by experience would be to the general advantage in the enterprise of the theater. It would spare the critics many dull hours, the managers much loss of money, and—where they cannot take their losses in a sporting spirit—of temper, while the public opinion of the stage and all its works would be immensely improved.—The Globe, London.

SENSE OF HONOR IN TRAMPS

In the north part of New York there is a postmaster, who is also owner of a small general store, who has ideas about the tramp that are different from the ideas entertained by the average citizen. The owner of the store and the representative of Uncle Sam is stationed at a junction of three or four railroads, and nearby is a wood, an ideal place for a tramps' camp, which has been a rendezvous for years.

Several years ago the storekeeper began selling goods to the hoboes for cash. He observed that the same faces came in regularly, at intervals of a month or more. Soon the tramps began to ask for credit, and the storekeeper extended it. He found that invariably the tramp came in and paid his bill on his next return to the rendezvous, or if he were on a long trip, a money order would be sent for the amount. He has dealt with the shifting population for nearly 20 years, and declares he has never lost a cent from a bad account with one. He does not know the names of his customers, except as they are accosted by their fellows by the road names they bear, and most of the accounts are kept in the storekeeper's mind.

Troublesome Moose of Maine.

Hancock county, which is in southeastern Maine, is suffering a plague of moose and up around the headwaters of Union river and in the region of Saponic and Nickalous lakes the people who stay on farms the year around are calling for help.

Last summer the animals did serious injury to farm crops. This winter, it appears, they have yarded in and fed upon varieties of slash that seemed to be the honest pioneer's last resource. One farmer writes the state commissioners of inland fisheries and game to the effect that several years ago he bought a tract of 200 acres of wild land with the intent to go over it annually and cut out hoop poles. He did that once.

Then, as he expresses it, about the time that thousands of sprouts came up "the moose came in," destroyed the sprouts "and continue annually to destroy at least $200 of poles besides the growth." And this man and his neighbors have no redress short of the ultimate gun, since, though a state law provides reimbursement for crop damages inflicted by deer, moose do not figure in this way in any statute.—Boston Transcript.

Time Signals by Telephone.

A mechanism has been attached to the time clock at the Hamburg observatory by which the exact official time is transmitted to the telephone system of the city. From the fifty-fifth to sixtieth second of each minute the apparatus transmits a musical signal, which is followed by a phonographic announcement of the exact minute. The signals are transmitted by special wire to the headquarters of the telephone system, and thence to each local exchange. Any telephone subscriber who wishes to get the exact time has only to ask for the time connection at his exchange and to listen for the phonographic announcement. This is an improvement upon the American method by which time signals are transmitted by telegraph only once a day.—Youth's Companion.

Sacrificed to Reform.

"You have abandoned the picturesque custom of crowning a queen of the May?"

"Yes," replied the merry villager; "we had to give it up. There got to be so many candidates and so much campaigning that politics left us no time for business."

TRAVELED AS YOUNG LADY

Miss Six-Year-Old Fully Conscious of the Dignity That Henceforth Was Hers.

Looking much like a pretty picture in colors that had stepped right out of a fashion plate a dainty little miss stood on a street crossing in Yonkers and signaled a motorman to stop his car. He brought it to a halt so the child would not have to walk in the muddy street and the conductor helped her up the high step, for the small traveler was alone. More than that, he refrained from jerking the bellrope until she was seated, so she was not thrown off her feet at the sudden turning on of electric power. But she was short of stature and was obliged to sit on the edge of the seat to let her legs hang down, for otherwise they would have stuck out straight. Selecting a nickel from a tiny purse she extracted from her white fur muff, she extended it to the conductor when he came along. He gave her 2 cents change.

"You'll soon be a young lady and pay full fare," he said, with an attempt at gallantry.

Up went a little hand, holding the two pennies between finger and thumb. The conductor was puzzled, until the child spoke.

"I don't want any change," she explained. "Mamma says I'm a young lady now, 'cause I'm 6 years old today."

With an indulgent smile the conductor took the coins.—New York Press.

SPANISH JEWS IN NEW YORK

Ten Thousand of That Race and Faith Known to Be Residents of the Metropolis.

Almost unknown to the general community is the steadily increasing immigration into New York of Spanish speaking Jews from the Orient. It is estimated that these descendants of the Jewry expelled from the Iberian peninsula over 400 years ago now number about 10,000 in New York city.

Others are spreading abroad throughout the country, and a body of these Jews who have clung so faithfully to their Spanish tongue held religious services according to their own minhag last Rosh Hashona so far west as Portland, Ore.

In New York they are at least numerous enough to support two newspapers printed in Ladino-Spanish in Hebrew characters, one, appearing weekly, entitled L'America, edited by H. S. Gadol, the other a daily paper entitled El Aguila, edited by Mr. Mizrahi.

This immigration has become so considerable that the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigration Aid society has recently been compelled to form an Oriental bureau, through which the immigrant Jew speaking Spanish, Greek, Turkish, Arabic or Sephardic Hebrew can receive proper care.

Comedy in Maryland's Senate.

"Down at Annapolis the other day the legislators had a bit of comedy furnished them that does not ordinarily enter into the deliberations of a legislative body," remarked Charles Hamilton of Baltimore at the Raleigh.

"It seems that Senator Blair Lee, who was a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination last year, started to dress in evening attire to attend the reception given by Governor Goldsborough. He was impatient, the story goes, and in attempting to fasten his collar lost his only collar button. He looked around his room for an hour, and when he recovered the lost button it was mashed so that it could not be used. The senator had trod on it. He finally succeeded in borrowing one, but when he got to the governor's reception most of the guests had departed.

"One of Senator Lee's friends heard of the occurrence, and he rose in the senate and with the severest dignity offered a resolution. It provided for an appropriation sufficient to purchase a gross of collar buttons for Senator Lee 'that he might in the future be in time at official functions.'"—Washington Post.

Speaking Conscientiously.

Senator La Follette during his recent visit to Philadelphia said to a reporter, apropos of a flagrant piece of hypocrisy:

"Why, the man's as bad as a Newport groom I heard of the other day.

"This groom stood beside his master while a veterinary examined a costly colt. The veterinary, at the end of his examination, pronounced the colt incurable and took leave. Then the master, sighing heavily, turned to the groom and said:

"'Well, James, what am I to do with the poor beast now?'

"'Conscientiously speakin', sir,' the groom replied, 'I think you'd better part with him now to another gentleman, sir.'"

On the Job.

Representative Hamilton of West Virginia paid a tribute to Republican Leader Mann that is a gem in its way.

"The gentleman from Illinois," said Mr. Hamilton, "only eats on Sundays and never sleeps at all. If he had been a marshal under Napoleon at Waterloo the battle might have resulted differently, because he would have discovered the absence of Grouchy at the proper time and suggested the absence of a quorum. And, if necessary, he would have halted the hosts of Wellington by a well-interposed demand for the yeas and nays."

Political Difficulty.

If a due participation of office is a matter of fact, how are vacancies to be obtained? Those by death are few, by resignation none.—Thomas Jefferson.

Hard to Appoint a Time.

"Yes; she promised to be mine some day." "But when?" "She can't exactly say as yet. Seems she will first have to break off four or five other engagements."

Truly Considerate.

Marie—"Is your husband considerate?" Alice—"So much so he doesn't come home at night for fear he'll wake me up."—The Sphinx.

Rule Works Both Ways.

The man who thinks that the "I don't-care-for-anyone" attitude is the manly attitude will live long enough to realize that no one cares for him.

Do you want a girl?
Do you want to rent your furnished room?

Do you want to sell your eggs, poultry or live stock?
Have you lost anything?
Have you anything to trade?
Do you want to sell your piano?

There are many who want to do one or the other of these things. Most of them don't know how to go about it. If they could only tell the people what they want they would be all right. If they could only let the people know without disclosing their identity that might be better still.

If you wont to buy, sell or secure any of the above, or if you want to trade anything, did it ever occur to you that the best thing in the world to do is to use the Classified Columns of the Mail.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

(From noon today to noon tomorrow.) Sun sets 7:33, rises 4:28. Evening stars: Mars, Jupiter, Mercury. Morning stars: Venus, Saturn.

BID THEM WELCOME.

Tomorrow will witness the opening of the Washington County Sunday School Association convention in Charleroi, for which elaborate preparations have been in progress for some weeks. This is a most important event in church circles, and from the fact that similar annual conventions have drawn large crowds elsewhere, record breaking attendance is looked for in Charleroi, on account of the point of vantage the town enjoys, the convenient facilities for getting in and out and the hospitable reception that Charleroi has always accorded visitors who come here to attend meetings and conventions.

On this occasion the people of Charleroi should make special efforts to extend the glad hand of hospitality to its visitors. The work of the Sunday school is in the direction of civic righteousness as well as morality, and in this we in Charleroi believe that we are in the procession that marks for the uplift of society as well as for progress. We have a clean, well governed town, and we should make every possible effort to impress our visitors, many of whom have never visited the town, with our hospitality and civic spirit. Let each and every [illegible] our visitors the glad [illegible] to show to them the [illegible] and advantages of our town, and to be cordial and friendly. We know that we have a good town, and the more we impress this fact upon our outside friends, the greater will be our rewards in the future.

PARTY PRINCIPLES RULE.

Whatever may be the result of the Republican convention at Chicago, the great principles of the Republican party remain the same. This party which was founded as a protest against human slavery and stands for liberty and equality, is today as adaptable to the needs of the hour as it was in the days of the great and immortal Lincoln. That the party name has been diverted in the promotion of special privileges none will deny, and that popular rule under Republican administration has been hampered and abridged is also incontrovertible. The people, however, have voiced their protest, and as the great strength and power of the Republican party has always been its flexibility and response to popular sentiment, it will again be responsive to the will of the people. All that the people ask can be granted and put in execution through the medium of the Republican party better than by a new and untried party.

In the face of the tremendous agitation now in progress incident to a struggle for the presidential nomination, it is incumbent upon each and every Republican to remain firm in his party allegiance. The present campaign for the nomination has more than ever before demonstrated the sovereign power of the individual voter, who in the aggregate is supreme, and who can effect the desired changes and reforms within his own party. It has been the indifference of the voter which has resulted in the perversion of the principles of Republicanism, but with a more jealous regard for the high standing and integrity of party principles from this time on there can be a return to the first principles of human rights without the choas and dangers of a complete reversion of political alignment. The success of a new party must depend entirely upon the integrity and unselfishness of the voters who compose it, and these attributes can be exercised and carried out within the Republican party as well as out of it.

Therefore no Republican voter should talk of bolting in case the candidate he prefers is not nominated. Instead, let each Republican strive to carry out the ideal of his party's principles, and all will be well.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"The political situation at the present time reminds me of the campaign of 1860," said an aged citizen who is a civil war veteran. "Then as now the majority party was hopelessly divided and it was this division which permitted the newly organized Republican party to win. As a matter of fact the great issue of that day was slavery and on this the Democratic party was hopelessly divided. The southern wing of the Democratic party was for slavery and its extension, while a large element of the northern Democratis were free soilers and against the extension of slavery. In the campaign of 1860 the Democrats had three presidential candidates in the field which enabled the Republicans, who were out and out anti-slavery, to win. I was one of the original Republicans, and those of us who followed that political faith at thattime didn't have as much political toleration as would a Socialist today in Sewickley.

"Today the Republican party is hopelessly divided upon the question of special privilege and popular rule. There are the standpatters and the progressives within the party and any prospect of harmonizing this difference is apparently irreconciable. Within the Democratic party is much the same condition, with the difference, perhaps, that the most of the active leaders of the Democratic party in the north at least, are actuated by trading motives for what crumbs of patronage come their way. If the Democrats would repudiate their old leaders and return to the principles of popular rule as promulgated by Thomas Jefferson, they would become the popular party of the day.

"This, however, I do not expect, and I look for a new political alignment whereby the adherents of popular rule from all parties will line up together and fight for direct government by the people with popular rights for all and special privileges to none. As Bobby Burns says:

" 'It's coming yet for a' that,
That man to man the warld o'er
Will brithers be, for a' that.' "

'What's that tent for?" asked a traveling man last evening of a citizen he met while strolling down Fallowfield avenue.

"Oh, that's for the convention," replied the citizen enthusiastically.

"What, are you people so patriotic here that you get a tent ready to celebrate the nomination to be made at the Chicago convention?"

"Not on your life," replied the citizen. "That tent's for the Sunday school convention here this week. That's the only convention we're thinking of in Charleroi, and we're so interested in that we've no time to think of that little affair in Chicago.

HEBREW WOMEN HOLDING PICNIC

The Hebrew Ladies' Aid society of Monessen and their friends are enjoying a day's outing at Eldora Park today. Many invited guests are present from Pittsburg and points up and down the river and all are devoting the day to pleasure. A picnic dinner, dancing and other diversions are forms of entertainment.

King George Owns Sandringham.

The statement is again being published that Sandringham is the absolute property of Queen Alexandra. As a matter of fact in the will of the late King Edward the whole estate was left solely to King George, his late majesty merely stipulating that the queen mother should have the entire use of it during her lifetime and adding a wish that in the future the place might become the dower house of the queen consort. King George is, however, in no way bound by this, and is at liberty when the proper time arrives to dispose of it in any manner that seems best to him. In the meantime he has entire charge of the estate, pays all the outgoings and receives the income.

REV. SHEY TO HELP IN FUNERAL SERVICES

Rev. Lucius W. Shey, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church, went to Uniontown today to officiate at the funeral of Fred Thomas, a prominent young man of that town who died in the hospital, aged 36 years. Mr. Shey is officiating in the place of Rev. Beekman of St. Peter's Episcopal church of Uniontown, who is absent from the town.

Three Buried by Snowslide.

In the course of a violent storm at Grenoble, near Paris, recently, an isolated mountain chalet, situated at a height of over 5,000 feet above the sea, was buried in an avalanche of snow and completely disappeared. Its three occupants have undoubtedly perished.

"Father of Antiseptic Surgery."

Sir Joseph Lister's remarkable discoveries in surgery won world-wide fame for him. In the profession he was acknowledged to be the "father of modern antiseptic surgery." He had long been recognized as one of the leaders of the medical profession.

UP IN ARMS AGAINST CRITICS

London Theater Managers Resent "Roasts" and Newspaper Makes a Plain Talk.

One can easily sympathize with an actor manager, and not less, as in a recent instance, with an actress-managress, who finds that personal estimates of the merits of a play are not indorsed either by the critics or by that far more important section of the community, the playgoing public. But the growing practice on the part of those who control our theaters of showing something like petulance, or worse, when they find they have made a mistake is full of awkward possibilities. Gerald du Maurier's outburst is the latest instance in point. Because those whom he invited to express opinions on his new venture, "The Dust of Egypt," told the truth about it and failed to indulge in paeans of praise he writes a portentous letter to ask "What is a critic?" The best answer we have seen comes from A. C. Benson: "I suppose that an expert critic is a man with a natural faculty of discrimination which has been trained by experience." One is disposed to believe, after witnessing the sorry stuff so often put upon the stage, that a little more exercise of a faculty for discrimination trained by experience would be to the general advantage in the enterprise of the theater. It would spare the critics many dull hours, the managers much loss of money, and—where they cannot take their losses in a sporting spirit—of temper, while the public opinion of the stage and all its works would be immensely improved.—The Globe, London.

SENSE OF HONOR IN TRAMPS

In the north part of New York there is a postmaster, who is also owner of a small general store, who has ideas about the tramp that are different from the ideas entertained by the average citizen. The owner of the store and the representative of Uncle Sam is stationed at a junction of three or four railroads, and nearby is a wood, an ideal place for a tramps' camp, which has been a rendezvous for years.

Several years ago the storekeeper began selling goods to the hoboes for cash. He observed that the same faces came in regularly, at intervals of a month or more. Soon the tramps began to ask for credit, and the storekeeper extended it. He found that invariably the tramp came in and paid his bill on his next return to the rendezvous, or if he were on a long trip, a money order would be sent for the amount. He has dealt with the shifting population for nearly 20 years, and declares he has never lost a cent from a bad account with one. He does not know the names of his customers, except as they are accosted by their fellows by the road names they bear, and most of the accounts are kept in the storekeeper's mind.

Troublesome Moose of Maine.

Hancock county, which is in southeastern Maine, is suffering a plague of moose and up around the headwaters of Union river and in the region of Saponic and Nickalous lakes the people who stay on farms the year around are calling for help.

Last summer the animals did serious injury to farm crops. This winter, it appears, they have yarded in and fed upon varieties of slash that seemed to be the honest pioneer's last resource. One farmer writes the state commissioners of inland fisheries and game to the effect that several years ago he bought a tract of 200 acres of wild land with the intent to go over it annually and cut out hoop poles. He did that once.

Then, as he expresses it, about the time that thousands of sprouts came up "the moose came in," destroyed the sprouts "and continue annually to destroy at least $200 of poles besides the growth." And this man and his neighbors have no redress short of the ultimate gun, since, though a state law provides reimbursement for crop damages inflicted by deer, moose do not figure in this way in any statute. —Boston Transcript.

Time Signals by Telephone.

A mechanism has been attached to the time-clock at the Hamburg observatory by which the exact official time is transmitted to the telephone system of the city. From the fifty-fifth to sixtieth second of each minute the apparatus transmits a musical signal, which is followed by a phonographic announcement of the exact minute. The signals are transmitted by special wire to the headquarters of the telephone system, and thence to each local exchange. Any telephone subscriber who wishes to get the exact time has only to ask for the time connection at his exchange and to listen for the phonographic announcement. This is an improvement upon the American method by which time signals are transmitted by telegraph only once a day.—Youth's Companion.

Sacrificed to Reform.

"You have abandoned the picturesque custom of crowning a queen of the May?"

"Yes," replied the merry villager; "we had to give it up. There got to be so many candidates and so much campaigning that politics left us no time for business."

TRAVELED AS YOUNG LADY

Miss Six-Year-Old Fully Conscious of the Dignity That Henceforth Was Hers.

Looking much like a pretty picture in colors that had stepped right out of a fashion plate a dainty little miss stood on a street crossing in Yonkers and signaled a motorman to stop his car. He brought it to a halt so the child would not have to walk in the muddy street and the conductor helped her up the high step, for the small traveler was alone. More than that, he refrained from jerking the bellrope until she was seated, so she was not thrown off her feet at the sudden turning on of electric power. But she was short of stature and was obliged to sit on the edge of the seat to let her legs hang down, for otherwise they would have stuck out straight. Selecting a nickel from a tiny purse she extracted from her white fur muff, she extended it to the conductor when he came along. He gave her 2 cents change.

"You'll soon be a young lady and pay full fare," he said, with an attempt at gallantry.

Up went a little hand, holding the two pennies between finger and thumb. The conductor was puzzled, until the child spoke.

"I don't want any change," she explained. "Mamma says I'm a young lady now, 'cause I'm 6 years old today."

With an indulgent smile the conductor took the coins.—New York Press.

SPANISH JEWS IN NEW YORK

Ten Thousand of That Race and Faith Known to Be Residents of the Metropolis.

Almost unknown to the general community is the steadily increasing immigration into New York of Spanish speaking Jews from the Orient. It is estimated that these descendants of the Jewry expelled from the Iberian peninsula over 400 years ago now number about 10,000 in New York city.

Others are spreading abroad throughout the country, and a body of these Jews who have clung so faithfully to their Spanish tongue held religious services according to their own minhag last Rosh Hashona so far west as Portland, Ore.

In New York they are at least numerous enough to support two newspapers printed in Ladino-Spanish in Hebrew characters, one appearing weekly, entitled L'America, edited by H. S. Gadol, the other a daily paper entitled El Aguila, edited by Mr. Mizrahi.

This immigration has become so considerable that the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigration Aid society has recently been compelled to form an Oriental bureau, through which the immigrant Jew speaking Spanish, Greek, Turkish, Arabic or Sephardic Hebrew can receive proper care.

Comedy in Maryland's Senate.

"Down at Annapolis the other day the legislators had a bit of comedy furnished them that does not ordinarily enter into the deliberations of a legislative body," remarked Charles Hamilton of Baltimore at the Raleigh.

"It seems that Senator Blair Lee, who was a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination last year, started to dress in evening attire to attend the reception given by Governor Goldsborough. He was impatient, the story goes, and in attempting to fasten his collar lost his only collar button. He looked around his room for an hour, and when he recovered the lost button it was mashed so that it could not be used. The senator had trod on it. He finally succeeded in borrowing one, but when he got to the governor's reception most of the guests had departed.

"One of Senator Lee's friends heard of the occurrence, and he rose in the senate and with the severest dignity offered a resolution. It provided for an appropriation sufficient to purchase a gross of collar buttons for Senator Lee 'that he might in the future be in time at official functions.'" —Washington Post.

Speaking Conscientiously.

Senator La Follette during his recent visit to Philadelphia said to a reporter, apropos of a flagrant piece of hypocrisy:

"Why, the man's as bad as a Newport groom I heard of the other day.

"This groom stood beside his master while a veterinary examined a costly colt. The veterinary, at the end of his examination, pronounced the colt incurable and took leave. Then the master, sighing heavily, turned to the groom and said:

"'Well, James, what am I to do with the poor beast now?'

"'Conscientiously speakin', sir,' the groom replied, 'I think you'd better part with him now to another gentleman, sir.'"

On the Job.

Representative Hamilton of West Virginia paid a tribute to Republican Leader Mann that is a gem in its way.

"The gentleman from Illinois," said Mr. Hamilton, "only eats on Sundays and never sleeps at all. If he had been a marshal under Napoleon at Waterloo the battle might have resulted differently, because he would have discovered the absence of Grouchy at the proper time and suggested the absence of a quorum. And, if necessary, he would have halted the hosts of Wellington by a well-interposed demand for the yeas and nays."

Political Difficulty.

If a due participation of office is a matter of fact, how are vacancies to be obtained? Those by death are few; by resignation none.—Thomas Jefferson.

Hard to Appoint a Time.

"Yes; she promised to be mine some day." "But when?" "She can't exactly say as yet Seems she will first have to break off four or five other engagements."

Truly Considerate.

Marie—"Is your husband considerate?" Alice—"So much so he doesn't come home at night for fear he'll wake me up."—The Sphinx.

Rule Works Both Ways.

The man who thinks that the "I don't-care-for-anyone" attitude is the manly attitude will live long enough to realize that no one cares for him.

THE PRIMER OF SUCCESS

Do you want a position?
Do you want a girl?
Do you want to rent your furnished room?
Do you want to sell your house?
Do you want to sell your eggs, poultry or live stock?
Have you lost anything?
Have you anything to trade?
Do you want to sell your piano?

There are many who want to do one or the other of these things. Most of them don't know how to go about it. If they could only tell the people what they want they would be all right. If they could only let the people know without disclosing their identity that might be better still.

If you wont to buy, sell or secure any of the above, or if you want to trade anything, did it ever occur to you that the best thing in the world to do is to use the Classified Columns of the Mail.

CHARLEROI READY TO WELCOME SUNDAY SCHOOL HOSTS

which the local committee has had to contend has been that of finding places for delegates to sleep. This finally has been well taken care of.

Not only will the convention have importance as a local and county affair, but also as a State event. Washington county forms just one district of a number in the State, but it has at the present time the distinction of being the second in importance in Sunday school work, Duphin county only being ahead of the various points considered. Consequently the eyes of the entire State will be upon Charleroi this week. Local officers are hopeful that this convention will mean that Washington county will jump into the lead of Dauphin.

Coliseum at 12:01 p. m. More then 10,000 present.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Father J. S. Callaghan, which was followed by the reading of the call for the convention by Secretary William H. Hayward.

Geovernor Hadley of Missouri, a Roosevelt man, started the fight against Taft by moving the adoption of a Roosevelt roll call to take the place of the one reported by the national committee.

Debate by the opposing elements for 40 minutes. Chairman Rosewater decided motion out of order.

Chairman Rosewater announced that Senator Root had been selected by the national committee for temporary chairman. He was the Taft candidate.

Many fiery speeches were made for both candidates. It was charged by the Roosevelt speakers that 60 men were sitting in the convention, who had been illegally steam rolled in.

Sergeant-at-Arms Stone announced that unless Francis Heney was allowed to proceed with his speech that the disturbers would be removed from the hall. There were over 200 policemen and sergeant-at-arms on hand to keep the peace.

Speeches took up most of the afternoon.

Then came the roll call by delegates. This finished at 6:10 p. m. and the election of Senator Root as temporary chairman was announced. Root began his speech at 6:19 p. m. The convention adjourned at 7:45 p.m. until 11 o'clock this morning, Root having finished a few minutes before that time.

Each side is still claiming victory and the fight will be renewed today. It was stated that the betting last night in various sporting centers was 3 to 1 against Roosevelt and 2 to 1 against Taft. Unbiased correspondents say that while Taft has the apparent advantage the vote is likely to be too close for comfort, and the issue is still uncertain with renewed talk of a "dark horse."

Seventeenth Annual County Convention to Start With Early Morning Session Thursday

IMPORTANT TO COUNTY

Like Chicago on Monday, Charleroi is today on thetiptoe of expectation over the district convention of the Washington County Sunday School Association which opens for a two days' session here tomorrow. In point of magnitude and local importance the Sunday school convention will mean as much to Charleroi as the Repuvlican convention does to Chicago, and local facilities will be taxed to the utmost to take care of and entertain the hundreds of visitors who are expected to be present.

Delegates will arrive early tomorrow morning. They will be met at street cars and trains by members of the Washington Avenue Boys' Brigade, serving as pages, and will be conducted to the Christian church, where the registration bureau with Coroner James T. Heffran in charge will be stationed. The delegates will there be registered and assigned their places of entertainment.

Promptly at 9:45 o'clock will the first event occur that will formally open the two days' session. At this time will occur the children's parade. The parade will end up at the convention tent and Rev. L. O. Brown, of Franklin will give a chalk talk to the children. Convention business will be taken up following Rev. Brown's talk.

Features of the Thursday afternoon session will be addresses of welcome. Burgess George W. Risbeck is programmed to welcome the visiting Sunday School folks on behalf of the "Magic City," and Rev. J. E. Charles on behalf of the Charleroi churches.

Final preparations to receive the incoming hosts and entertain them during their stay were made by the Charleroi district executive committee today. W. S. James, the president of the district, has had every detail looked after. From this time on until the convention is history the town will be in gala attire.

Friday evening will be the time of the biggest demonstration when delegations of men to the number of 3,000 or more from all parts of the county will come to participate in a men's parade. Seventeen bands are expected on the occasion. Preceding the p arade the bands will probably be formed into one immense organization on the corner of McKean avenue for a grand concert under direction of August Bosson, a former band master.

NIGHTSHIRT PARADE SOURCE OF TROUBLE

The alleged outrages which were the outgrowth of Waynesburg's famous "shirttail parade," by student of the college at the county capital of Greene have been settled out of court, and that staid old burg will have to forego the pleasant sensations promised by such a suit. The ten students arrested a few days ago on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by W. R. Cowieson, a Methodist Episcopal minister and a student of Waynesburg College and Frank Weaver, another student also studying for the ministry, compromised the proceedings Monday oefore the time set for the hearing. The prosecutors agreed to let the matter drop providing the boys pay all costs and damages.

The damage was to the clothing of the two divinity students,one of whom was ducked, and the other of whom was forcibly ejected from his outer garments and made to join in the procession. It is stated that when the one student dried his clothing and donned it, he resembled "Bub" Hicks in George Aide's delightful play, "The College Widow." The other's trousers were, in the language of one irreverent principal in the parade, "ripped from stem to gudgeon" in the process of being peeled off the unwilling participant of the en deshabille parade.

COMMISSIONERS PREPARE BONDS

The last step in the preparation for the taking over of the Belle Vernon bridge on the part of this county was taken this week when the county commissioners by formal resolution, unanimously passed and issued bonds to the amount of $60,000 to cover the cost of the bridge and its repairs. A judgment has been entered in the courts of Butler county for $88,842 against Washington and Fayette counties which together with costs and interest, makes Washington county's share $41.921.25.

In the statement filed with the clerk of courts it is set forth that there is available at present but $1,921.25 applicable to this debt and as the necessary repairs to the bridge will cost $20,000 for this county's share coupon bonds are issued for $60,000. The bonds bear interest at 4 1-2 per cent and fall due in yearly series of five from June 1, 1913, to June 1, 1924.

In the statement of indebtedness prepared by Chief Clerk Harry Campbell accompanying the resolution filed at the clerk of courts office, it is set forth that the total indebtedness of the county including the issue of bonds for $60,000 is $1,931,000 and the increase in indebtedness does not bring the total up to the two per cent limit. The last assessed valuation of the county was $114,780,617.

DEFINITE MOVE FOR NEW LINE

West Penn Traction Co. Secures Washington Franchise

THREE YEARS IS LIMIT

The first definite step was taken towards the much discussed trolley line which the West Penn Traction company proposes to build from Washington to the river when the Washington council passed an ordinance thus granting the company a 50-year franchise in the borough. The ordinance was passed practically as the company wanted it,it is stated, but it that was loaded with amendments.

The line according to advices of the West Penn Traction company is to be built within three years. The route will be through some of the largest towns along the Monongahela valley affording transportation by a shorter route to Washington. Charleroi will be given direct connections with the county seat, if plans announced a short time ago are carried out. The company is to furnish bond at Washington whenever they accept the ordinance. This will not be long, if their apparent anxiety to get the ordinance through has not been assured.

One of the amendments carried on the ordinance that passed at Washington was that all troubles as to compensation are to be settled by the public utilities board, should such be created in this state.

EDWARD CARSON AND MISS BERTHA COVEN ARE WEDDED TODAY

This morning at the pastorage of Rev. J. M. Feightner of Wall, Edward Carson of Charleroi and Miss Bertha Coven of North Charleroi were married. The wedding was a quiet affair only just the necessary witnesses being present.

The groom is employed by the firm of Regan and Hormell here as a steam fitter. Both he and his bride are well known young people.

GRADE ORDINANCE FOR STATE HIGHWAYS PASSED

Council Concluding Work of Preparation on Two Streets

SECTION ON ONE ROUTE

Council held a short meeting Tuesday evening at which time two grade ordinances that have to do with the State improvement of two sections of road in the borough were taken up, and passed through first reading. One of the ordinances was to regulate the grade on McKean avenue between the end of the present paved street and Maple Creek, which marks the boundary line of Charleroi and Speers borough. The other ordinance was practically the same, it being for the grading of the portion of Lincoln avenue leading from the end of paving at the south to the west borough line.

The two ordinances were necessary, it is stated before the State Highways Department would begin work of improvement. Both Lincoln avenue and McKean avenue are parts of Route No. 118 in the State plan, and both are listed for improvement.

Advertising matter was issued some days ago by the State Highways Department asking for bids on the t sections of road, totalling 3,760 l eral feet to be improved. These b are to be in by July 9, when th will be opened at Harrisburg. Probably the contract will be let at the same time and work started.

The borough has had considerable to do in the improvement of the two sections of road and will assist the State further in their improvement. They are both to be brick blocked. Later on it is expected that Lincoln avenue leading directly through the most populous part of the borough and the section of road between Maple Creek and the Belle Vernon bridge will be improved. Onet hing that the route goes over a part of the right-of-way of the Pennsylvania Railroad which company does not appear anxious to give up its property.

Charus of 100 Voices to Render Program Tonight to Open Convention

Tonight at the large Sunday School convention tent that has been erected at the corner of Fallowfield avenue and Seventh street, a concert and recital will be given by a choir of 100 voices under direction of Prof I. T. Daniel. The choir has been practicing on the various numbers since February and an excellent program has been arranged. Hundreds are expected to come from adjoining towns to hear the concert, which will start promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

VICTORY FOR TAFT DECLARED

First Day's Session in Chicago Ends With Root Chairman.

BITTER FIGHT WAGED

Taft people drew "first blood" in the Chicago convention yesterday by the election of Senator Root of New York as temporary chairman, which met at 12 o'clock for the purpose of nominating a Republican candidate for president, and where a Titanic battle is in progress between the two leading candidates,President Taft and Col. Roosevelt. Much local interest was manifested and shortly after noon the Western Union telegraph office and telephone offices were besieged with calls for news from the convention. Nothing was received, however until after 8 o'clock, when the nomination of Senator Elihu Root of New York for temporary chairman was announced.

This was the first test of strength beween the two candidates, and as Senator Root was the Taft candidate, the president's followers are confident that he will receive the nomination. Senator Root was elected over Governor McGovern of Wisconsin, the Roosevelt candidate for temporary chairman, by a vote of 558 to 502.

The total vote cast in the convention for temporary chairman was 1,073 out of a total of 1,078 divided as follows; Root, 558; McGovern, 502; Lauder, 9; Hauser, 3; Gronna, 1; not voting 5.

This gave Root the choice of the national committee, a majority of 38 over all. The 520 votes cast against Root included the 36 pledged to LaFollette and 10 for Cummins which would indicate that the Roosevelt strength expressed by the ballot represented 474 votes.

The convention was called to order by Chairman Rosewater at Chicago

PARTY PRINCIPLES RULE

Whatever may be the result [illegible] the Republican [illegible] at Chicago, the great principles of the Republican party remain the same. This party which was founded as a protest against human slavery and stands for liberty and equality is today as adaptable to the needs of the hour as it was in the days of the great and immortal Lincoln. That the party name has been diverted in the promotion of special privileges none will deny, and that popular rule under Republican administration has been hampered and abridged is also incontrovertible. The people, however, have voiced their protest, and as the great strength and power of the Republican party has always been its flexibility and response to popular sentiment, it will again be responsive to the will of the people. All that the people ask can be granted and put in execution through the medium of the Republican party better than by a new and untried party.

In the face of the tremendous [illegible] for the presidential [illegible] every Republican to remain [illegible] The [illegible] more than ever before demonstrated the sovereign power of the individual voter, who in the aggregate is supreme, and who can effect the desired changes and reforms within his own [illegible] of the voter which has resulted in the perversion of the principles of Republicanism, but with a more jealous regard for the high standing and integrity of party principles from this time on there can be a return to the first principles of human rights without the chaos and dangers of a complete reversion of political alignment. The success of a new party must depend entirely upon the integrity and unselfishness of the voters who compose it and these attributes can be exercised and carried out within the Republican party as well as [illegible] of it.

Therefore no Republican [illegible] should fall [illegible] the candidate he prefers is not nominated. Instead let each Republican strive to carry out the ideals of the party principles, and all will be well.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"The political situation at the present time reminds me of the campaign of 1860," said an aged citizen who is a civil war veteran. "Then as now the majority party was hopelessly divided and it was this division which permitted the newly organized Republican party to win. As a matter of fact the great issue of that day was slavery and on this the Democratic party was hopelessly divided. The southern wing of the Democratic party was for slavery and its extension, while a large element of the northern Democrats were free soilers and against the extension of slavery. In the campaign of 1860 the Democrats had three presidential candidates in the field which enabled the Republicans, who were out and out anti-slavery, to win. I was one of the original Republicans, and those of us [illegible] had as much political toleration as would a Socialist today in Sewickley.

"Today the Republican party is hopelessly divided upon the question of special privilege and popular rule. There are the standpatters and the progressives [illegible] prospect of harmonizing this difference is apparent. [illegible] Within the Democratic party is much the same condition with the difference, perhaps, that the most of the active leaders of the Democratic party in the north at least are actuated by trading motives for what crumbs of patronage come their way. If the Democrats would repudiate their old leaders and return to the principles of popular rule as promulgated by Thomas Jefferson they would become the popular party of the day.

"This, however, I do not expect, and I look for a new political alignment whereby the adherents of popular rule from all parties will [illegible] together and fight for [illegible] [illegible] by the people [illegible] privileges and special privileges to [illegible]. As Bobby Burns says:

HEBREW WOMEN HOLDING PICNIC

The Hebrew Ladies' Aid society of Monessen and their friends are enjoying a day's outing at Eldora Park today. Many invited guests are present from Pittsburg and points up and down the river and all are devoting the day to pleasure. A picnic dinner, dancing and other diversions are forms of entertainment.

King George Owns Sandringham.

The statement is again being published that Sandringham is the absolute property of Queen Alexandra. As a matter of fact in the will of the late King Edward the whole estate was left solely to King George, his late majesty merely stipulating that the queen mother should have the entire use of it during her lifetime and adding a wish that in the future the place might become the dower house of the queen consort. King George is, however, in no way bound by this, and is at liberty when the proper time arrives to dispose of it in any manner that seems best to him. In the meantime he has entire charge of the estate, pays all the outgoings and receives the income.

REV. SHEY TO HELP IN FUNERAL SERVICES

Rev. Lucius W Shey, pastor of St Mary's Episcopal church, went to Uniontown today to officiate at the funeral of Fred Thomas, a prominent young man of that town who died in the hospital, aged 36 years. Mr Shey is officiating in the place of Rev Beekman of St Peter's Episcopal church of Uniontown, who is absent from the town.

Three Buried by Snowslide.

In the course of a violent storm at Grenoble near Paris, recently, an isolated mountain chalet, situated at a height of over 5,000 feet above the sea, was buried in an avalanche of snow and completely disappeared. Its three occupants have undoubtedly perished.

"Father of Antiseptic Surgery."

Sir Joseph Lister's remarkable discoveries in surgery won world-wide fame for him. In the profession he was acknowledged to be the "father of modern antiseptic surgery." He had long been recognized as one of the leaders of the medical profession.

UP IN ARMS AGAINST CRITICS

London Theater Managers Resent "Roasts" and Newspaper Makes a Plain Talk.

One can easily sympathize with an actor manager, and not less, as in a recent instance, with an actress-managress, who finds that personal estimates of the merits of a play are not indorsed either by the critics or by that far more important section of the community, the playgoing public. But the growing practice on the part of those who control our theaters of showing something like petulance, or worse, when they find they have made a mistake is full of awkward possibilities. Gerald du Maurier's outburst is the latest instance in point. Because those whom he invited to express opinions on his new venture, "The Dust of Egypt," told the truth about it and failed to indulge in paeans of praise he writes a portentous letter to ask "What is a critic?" The best answer we have seen comes from A. C. Benson: "I suppose that an expert critic is a man with a natural faculty of discrimination which has been trained by experience." One is disposed to believe, after witnessing the scene [illegible] on the stage, that a little more exercise of a faculty for discrimination trained by experience would be to the general advantage in the enterprise of the theater. It would spare the critics many dull hours, the managers much loss of money, and—where they cannot take their losses in a sporting spirit—of temper, while the public opinion of the stage and all its works would be immensely improved.—The Globe, London

SENSE OF HONOR IN TRAMPS

In the north part of New York there is a postmaster, who is also owner of a small general store, who has ideas about the tramp that are different from the ideas entertained by the average citizen. The owner of the store and the representative of Uncle Sam is stationed at a junction of three or four railroads and nearby is a wood, an ideal place for a tramps' camp, which has been a rendezvous for years.

Several years ago the storekeeper began selling goods to the hoboes for cash. He observed that the same faces came in regularly, at intervals of a month or more. Soon the tramps began to ask for credit, and the storekeeper extended it. He found that invariably the tramp came in and paid his bill on his next return to the rendezvous or if he were on a long trip, a money order would be sent for the amount. He has dealt with the shifting population for nearly 20 years, and declares he has never lost a cent from a bad account with one. He does not know the names of his customers, except as they are accosted by their fellows by the road names they bear and most of the accounts are kept in the storekeeper's mind.

Troublesome Moose of Maine.

Hancock county, which is in southeastern Maine is suffering a plague of moose and up around the headwaters of Union river and in the region of Saponic and Nicholous lakes the people who stay on farms the year around are calling for help.

Last summer the animals did serious injury to farm crops. This winter, it appears, they have yarded in and fed upon varieties of slash that seemed to be the honest pioneer's last resource. One farmer writes the state commissioners of inland fisheries and game to the effect that several years ago he bought a tract of 200 acres of wild land with the intent to go over it annually and cut out hoop poles. He did that once.

Then, as he expresses it, about the time that thousands of sprouts came up "the moose came in," destroyed the sprouts "and continue annually to destroy at least $200 of poles besides the growth." And this man and his neighbors have no redress short of the ultimate gun, since though a state law provides reimbursement for crop damages inflicted by deer, moose do not figure in this way in any statute.—Boston Transcript

Time Signals by Telephone.

A mechanism has been attached to the time clock at the Harrburg observatory by which the exact official time is transmitted to the telephone system of the city. From the fifty-fifth to sixtieth second of each minute the apparatus transmits a musical signal, which is followed by a phonographic announcement of the exact minute. The signals are transmitted by special wire to the headquarters of the telephone system, and thence to each local exchange. Any telephone subscriber who wishes to get the exact time has only to ask for the time connection at his exchange and to listen for the phonographic announcement. This is an improvement upon the American method by which time signals are transmitted by telegraph only once a day.—Youth's Companion

Sacrificed to Reform.

"You have abandoned the picturesque custom of crowning a queen of the May?"

"Yes," replied the merry villager; "we had to give it up. There got to be so many candidates and so much campaigning that politics left us no time for business."

TRAVELED AS YOUNG LADY

Miss Six-Year-Old Fully Conscious of the Dignity That Henceforth Was Hers.

Looking much like a pretty picture in colors that had stepped right out of a fashion plate a dainty little miss stood on a street crossing in Yonkers and signaled a motorman to stop his car. He brought it to a halt so the child would not have to walk in the muddy street and the conductor helped her up the high step for the small traveler was alone. More than that, he refrained from jerking the bellrope until she was seated, so she was not thrown off her feet at the sudden turning on of electric power. But she was short of stature and was obliged to sit on the edge of the seat to let her legs hang down, for otherwise they would have stuck out straight. Selecting a nickel from a tiny purse she extracted from her white fur muff, she extended it to the conductor when he came along. He gave her 2 cents change.

"You'll soon be a young lady and pay full fare" he said, with an attempt at gallantry.

Up went a little hand, holding the two pennies between finger and thumb. The conductor was puzzled, until the child spoke.

"I don't want any change," she explained. "Mamma says I'm a young lady now, 'cause I'm 6 years old today."

With an indulgent smile the conductor took the coins.—New York Press.

SPANISH JEWS IN NEW YORK

Ten Thousand of That Race and Faith Known to Be Residents of the Metropolis.

Almost unknown to the general community is the steadily increasing immigration into New York of Spanish speaking Jews from the Orient. It is estimated that these descendants of the Jewry expelled from the Iberian peninsula over 400 years ago now number about 10,000 in New York city.

Others are spreading abroad throughout the country, and a body of these Jews who have clung so faithfully to their Spanish tongue held religious services according to their own minhag last Rosh Hashona so far west as Portland, Ore.

In New York they are at least numerous enough to support two newspapers printed in Ladino-Spanish in Hebrew characters one, appearing weekly entitled L'America, edited by H. S. Gadol the other a daily paper entitled El Aguila, edited by Mr. Mizrahi.

This immigration has become so considerable that the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigration Aid society has recently been compelled to form an Oriental bureau, through which the immigrant Jew speaking Spanish, Greek, Turkish, Arabic or Sephardic Hebrew can receive proper care.

Comedy in Maryland's Senate.

"Down at Annapolis the other day the legislators had a bit of comedy furnished them that does not ordinarily enter into the deliberations of a legislative body," remarked Charles Hamilton of Baltimore at the Raleigh.

"It seems that Senator Blair Lee who was a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination last year, started to dress in evening attire to attend the reception given by Governor Goldsborough. He was impatient, the story goes, and in attempting to fasten his collar lost his only collar button. He looked around his room for an hour, and when he recovered the lost button it was mashed so that it could not be used. The senator had trod on it. He finally succeeded in borrowing one, but when he got to the governor's reception most of the guests had departed.

"One of Senator Lee's friends heard of the occurrence and he rose in the senate and with the severest dignity offered a resolution. It provided for an appropriation sufficient to purchase a gross of collar buttons for Senator Lee that he might in the future be in time at official functions.'"—Washington Post.

Speaking Conscientiously.

Senator La Follette during his recent visit to Philadelphia said to a reporter, apropos of a flagrant piece of hypocrisy:

"Why the man's as bad as a Newport groom I heard of the other day.

"This groom stood beside his master while a veterinary examined a costly colt. The veterinary at the end of his examination pronounced the colt incurable and took leave. Then the master sighing heavily, turned to the groom and said:

"'Well, James, what am I to do with the poor beast now?'

"Conscientiously speakin', sir, the groom replied, 'I think you'd better part with him now to another gentleman, sir.'"

On the Job.

Representative Hamilton of West Virginia paid a tribute to Republican Leader Mann that is a gem in its way. "The [illegible] from Illinois [illegible] Mr. Hamilton, 'only eats on Sundays and never sleeps at all. If he had been a marshal under Napoleon at Waterloo the battle might have resulted differently, because he would have discovered the absence of Grouchy at the proper time and suggested the absence of a quorum. And, if necessary, he would have halted the hosts of Wellington by a well-interposed demand for the yeas and nays."

Political Difficulty.

If a due participation of office is a matter of fact, how are vacancies to be obtained? Those by death are few, by resignation none.—Thomas Jefferson.

Hard to Appoint a Time.

"Yes; she promised to be mine some day." "But when?" "She can't exactly say as yet. Seems she will first have to break off four or five other engagements."

Truly Considerate.

Marie—"Is your husband considerate?" Alice—"So much so he doesn't come home at night for fear he'll wake me up."

Rule Works Both Ways.

The man who thinks that the "I don't-care-for-anyone" attitude is the manly attitude will live long enough to realize that no one cares for him.

THE PRIMER OF SUCCESS

Do you want a position?
Do you want a girl?
Do you want to rent your furnished room?
Do you want to sell your house?
Do you want to sell your eggs, poultry or live stock?
Have you lost anything?
Have you anything to trade?
Do you want to sell your piano?

There are many who want to do one or the other of these things. Most of them don't know how to go about it. If they could only tell the people what they want they would be all right. If they could only let the people know without disclosing their identity that might be better still.

If you wont to buy, sell or secure any of the above, or if you want to trade anything, did it ever occur to you that the best thing in the world to do is to use the Classified Columns of the Mail.

Why do we give you this advice? To make business for ourselves? Certainly! To help you? Just as certainly! We are the medium between you and what you want. You just place a cent-a-word advertisement with us and we spread this advertisement before Five Thousand People Every Day. [illegible] bring you into touch. Isn't the advantage of being placed in touch with 5,000 people worth this insignificant sum?

which the local committee has had to contend has been that of finding places for delegates to sleep. This finally has been well taken care of.

Not only will the convention have importance as a local and county affair, but also as a State event. Washington county forms just one district of a number in the State, but it has at the present time the distinction of being the second in importance in Sunday school work, Duphin county only being ahead of the various points considered. Consequently the eyes of the entire State will be upon Charleroi this week. Local officers are hopeful that this convention will mean that Washington county will jump into the lead of Dauphin.

Milk Team Runs Away.

The team of the milk wagon belonging to Joseph Clements ran away Monday, while it was left standing for a moment on McKean avenue. In its flight it collided with the wagon of Floyd Bonnell near Sixth street. Clement's wagon was overturned and badly wrecked, while a wheel was torn off from Bonnell's wagon. The Clement team finally brought up against a telephone pole near Tenth street where it stopped.

Coliseum at 12:01 p. m. More then 10,000 present.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Father J. S. Callaghan, which was followed by the reading of the call for the convention by Secretary William H. Hayward.

Geovernor Hadley of Misouri, a Roosevelt man, started the fight against Taft by moving the adoption of a Roosevelt roll call to take the place of the one reported by the national committee.

Debate by the opposing elements for 40 minutes. Chairman Rosewater decided motion out of order.

Chairman Rosewater announced that Senator Root had been selected by the national committee for temporary chairman. He was the Taft candidate.

Many fiery speeches were made for both candidates. It was charged by the Roosevelt speakers that 60 men were sitting in the convention, who had been illegally steam rolled in.

Sergeant-at-Arms Stone announced that unless Francis Heney was allowed to proceed with his speech that the disturbers would be removed from the hall. There were over 200 policemen and sergeant-at-arms on hand to keep the peace.

Speeches took up most of the afternoon.

Then came the roll call by delegates. This finished at 6:10 p. m. and the election of Senator Root as temporary chairman was announced. Root began his speech at 6:15 p. m. The convention adjourned at 7:45 p.m. until 11 o'clock this morning. Root having finished a few minutes before that time.

Each side is still claiming victory and the fight will be renewed today. It was stated that the betting last night in various sporting centers was 3 to 1 against Roosevelt and 2 to 1 against Taft. Unbiased correspondents say that while Taft has the apparent advantage the vote is likely to be too close for comfort, and the issue is still uncertain with renewed talk of a "dark horse."
